OUR COUNTY CAPITAL.

Some breezy Dots from Hallatsville.

HALLATSVILLE, Dec. 7th, 1896.

News items hereabouts are nearly as scarce as hen's teeth are said to be; yet in order that the county seat may not have its space left blank in the GAZETTE, will scrape up what few are in sight.

Yesterday afternoon the members of the different fire companies assembled in front of the new opera house and had pictures taken of themselves and their apparatus.

The band made some sweet music. Later all adjourned to the firemen's hall where nice refreshments were served.

Turkeys, chickens, eggs and butter are nowadays in demand and bring fairly good prices.

Some cotton is yet being marketed here, notwithstanding the low prices. The result of the national election did not cause cotton to go up, as was anticipated by many.

The oil mill is running day and night and has plenty of seed. Some 600 bales are being fed here on hulls and meal. Heretofore more would have been fed, but so many who had fed their cattle lost money and became discouraged and quit the business.

Hallettsville people had plenty opportunities to attend church yesterday, as there were ten religious services in no less than five churches here.

Mr. O. C. Searcy is assisting District Clerk Hugh Lay until he becomes well acquainted with the routine duties of his new office. Mr. Searcy has the reputation of being one of the best clerks in Texas, hence he knows how things should be done.

Although the city election does not take place until April, there are already no less than three candidates for mayor beating the bushes.

The new county judge is already visiting some of the public schools and expects to visit every one of them as soon as possible. (A new broom sweeps clean). Having a first-grade life certificate and having had considerable experience as a teacher, he will, doubtless, be able to assist in improving some of the schools.

Mr. R. Wiseman, of Shiner, is here on business today.

Mr. Jesse Hauchett has returned from LaGrange, where he passed a most creditable examination and secured a license to practice law. He has not decided where he will locate, but is temporarily located in the office of his uncle, F. H. Green.

Mr. S. L. Bennett and family spent Sunday in Yoakum, with relatives.

Some half a dozen of the lawyers attended justice court in Sublime, Saturday.

No weddings, no births, and—thank the Lord—no deaths to report.

Goodbye, for the present. X.

A. S. Manning, a brakeman on the Aransas Pass, was killed at Cameron Friday night by falling off a box car. His body was taken to San Antonio.

The residence of Nick Moore, who lives three miles from Yoakum, was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning of last week. Besides the house and furniture, Mr. Moore lost $1,800 in cash, which he had stored away in the house. The total loss was about $4,000. The fire was plainly visible from Shiner, and the GAZETTE force, on their way home from the office, saw the reflection of the fire on the clouds. He had best left his money in the bank.

Leap Year Ball.

The ladies of Shiner will give a grand leap year ball at the Opera House, December 26th, for the benefit of the Firemen's Band.
